Koonibba Childrens Home

The two girls about fifteen or sixteen years old, we had to bring in by persuasion that they were not given a chance to resist. We found them wandering about the bush and it was quite evident that it was our duty to bring them in and save their souls. They have made excellent progress both in school and at the domestic work they are asked to do in the Home.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Years of operation: 1913-1963

Run By: The Lutheran Church of Australia as part of the Koonibba Mission Station

Address: Koonibba, approximately 40 km west of Ceduna on the West Coast of South Australia

HISTORY

In 1899 the Lutheran Church leased an area of 16,000 acres (6477 hectares) west of Ceduna from the South Australian Government with the aim of establishing a mission. In December 1901 the first missionary, Pastor C A Wiebusch, arrived in the area and commenced duties. In late 1913 the Mission turned its focus to children, officially opening a Children's Home on 9 November under the supervision of Matron Miss A von Einem. The establishment of the home allowed Aboriginal children to be 'removed from the camp atmosphere, and brought up in a Christian atmosphere'. The fourteen room stone building on five acres (2 hectares) provided accommodation for the matron and staff of the home, and two large bedrooms and several smaller rooms for children. As well as kitchen, bathroom, pantry and cellar, the home had a large dining room and assembly hall/kindergarten. The home initially accommodated 28 children. Over the years numbers increased to as many as 70, necessitating numerous additions and improvements to the building.

The home closed in July 1963 when the South Australian Government took over the control of the Mission. In 1975 Koonibba passed into Aboriginal hands and since then has been run by a Community Council.

Lutheran Emergency Home for Children

A big freestone and brick house on a corner block in Unley will be 'home' to children whose parents have abandoned them, who cannot look after them, or are sick for a time. It is the Lutheran Emergency Home for Children, the result of many years of planning and house hunting. The Rev G O Minge, a member of the home's committee of management, said yesterday that the home had been urgently needed for use in emergencies. 'It is not an orphanage or a large institution', he said. 'Children under 12 will stay generally up to six weeks, then be taken home by their parents or found foster homes.'

Years of operation: 1966-1984

Run By: The Lutheran Church of Australia

Address: 1 Edmund Street, Unley

HISTORY

This emergency home for children began operation in early in 1966. The Lutheran Church purchased the home for $10,000 and renovated and remodelled it to make it suitable for accommodating children in need of short term emergency accommodation. At its commencement, the home accommodated eight children, one was a sixteen month old baby and another a toddler of two years of age. The building had seven rooms, plus laundry, storeroom and bathrooms. The children slept in two bedrooms, one with two single beds and another with four beds and a cot. A common room or play room was provided and an outdoor play area. School-age children attended St Johns Day School or the Unley Primary School and on Sundays went to the St John's Church and Sunday School.

The first house parents of the home were Mr and Mrs Gogel of Waikerie. In 1968 they were joined by an assistant housemother who had been trained at the Wanslea Children's Home. By 1971 a new matron was in charge, Matron Kumnick. Additions were made to the premises so that she lived in a separate self-contained flat. Further additions to the home were made in 1975. The home was licensed by the Department for Community Welfare as an institution for children aged from 12 months to 12 years. They could remain for up to 12 weeks, with extensions allowed with the approval of the home management committee. In 1978 the home reported to the government's Residential Child Care Advisory Committee that during the month of August, it had cared for sixteen children from seven different families and the average length of care was twenty-two days. The home continued to operate in the same manner until late in 1984. The property is still owned by the Lutheran Church and is now known as Amandus. It operates as a home for people with disabilities.

STATE RECORDS OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA

Access conditions

Although some early records relating to institutions for children in South Australia are open access, many later records are subject to restrictions. Records which contain personal information about individuals are usually restricted for at least sixty years from the date of their creation. More sensitive records, such as adoption files, are restricted for at least seventy five years. Written permission must be obtained from the government agency which created the record in order to access restricted material. In the case of records relating to children, the agency responsible is, in most cases, Family and Youth Services.

A Research Centre Members card, obtainable at the Archives, is required. State Records has signed a Memorandum of Understanding with SA Link-Up.
